Welcome to Louisa Jessie De Fazio, born 15/4/18. Another daughter for Shane and Sarah, much loved sister for Josie and Fraser and granddaughter for Doreen (dec) and Jack Harrison and Linda and Laurie De Fazio. A very welcome new member of all our families.

YOU CAN WRITE LIKE LINDA

Linda De Fazio has shown our readers that everyone can contribute to our local newsletter. Her stories about travelling in Europe have been really informative and interesting and they include that special ingredient "local flavour" with hubby Laurie and the extended family. The stories don't even have to be about exotic travel because we all love a bit of gossip, even about seemingly everyday happenings.

The Tattler committee had a fun time at a recent meeting talking about various travel adventures both overseas and in the Oz outback and we decided that we should write more about such adventures.

When in my early twenties I did trips with mates to Tassie and Cairns, which included the beautiful Green Island, and one year the mates were unavailable so I decided that I would find company by hitch hiking. I met many interesting people and experienced some strange situations along my journey from the Latrobe Valley to Adelaide then up to Broken Hill. From there I travelled to Mildura and followed the Murray River to the Snowy Mountains where I visited a former electrician workmate from the SEC at Yallourn. He was a Scottish $10 'Pom' (immigrant) who was very popular at work but uncertain whether to stay in Oz. From the Snowy region I travelled down the Princes Highway to home.

The only place where I had trouble getting a ride was outside Broken Hill where I waited, after a few kilometres of walking, in the barren but beautiful landscape for 6 hours till a truck driver picked me up and took me to Mildura. The truckie was only the second vehicle on the road for the whole time I waited. We arrived in Mildura not long before dark which was fortunate, because as with the Snowy Mountains, I found friends of my brother in Mildura. Unfortunately this friend, and another mate of my brother, were to both die in a car crash. A further memory of these two young men was that when the funeral was held for the mate who lived in Yallourn my brother was terribly upset that he could not, as a Catholic, enter the Presbyterian Church for his mate's funeral. Things have changed since then.

I carried a small 2 man tent and sleeping bag but there were a number of times that I got a bed from friends that I visited or from people who gave me rides. The tent had strings at each end so I would look for trees and posts to tie the ends to, push a few pegs in the bottom of the tent and "Bob's your Uncle." Obviously there are some societal changes for the better in the intervening 50 years since my trip but some that are not so good. You could not hitch hike easily or safely now, like I did then, because so much trust and community togetherness is lost.

That trip cost very little, gave me an unforgettable adventure and made good use of my 2 weeks annual leave. At the time I took a few photos with my simple black and white folding camera which I thought was the "bee's knees." It had a timer so that I could even take 'selfies' which mostly showed me standing, squatting or leaning by roadsides while waiting for a ride.

Bratislava Old Town

Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, is set along the Danube River by the border with Austria and Hungary. It is 18 kms from the border with Hungary and only 60 kms from the Austrian capital Vienna.

It is surrounded by vineyards and the Little Carpathian Mountains and crisscrossed with forested hiking and cycling trails. The pedestrian-only, 18th-century old town is known for its lively bars and cafes. Perched atop a hill, the reconstructed Bratislava Castle overlooks the old town and the Danube.

Bratislava is very well known for its many sculptures, some of which are shown here. Most are life size and present great

My favourite is the one I call 'Peeping Tom' but who the locals call Cumil. The literal translation of Cumil is 'The Watcher'. He's supposedly a sewer worker who pops his head up through a manhole to look under women's skirts.

Local lore says that your wish will come true if you touch Cumil's head – as long as you keep it secret forever.

Shepparton Car Club visits Molyullah.

On Saturday, 5 May the Shepparton Vintage Car Club held a car rally in the area and stopped at the Molyullah Hall for a "country style morning tea".

It was a lovely crisp and sunny autumn morning and as the cars pulled up it was obvious that the conveniences were the high priority! Comfort restored, car club members entered the hall to partake in a cuppa and a wonderful array of baked and home-made goodies. Kath Ramage's sponge was so loved that several slices were taken to be auctioned at dinner that evening! Tables had been set in the hall but few were used – the visitors preferring to enjoy the lovely day and environment outside.

Many said they had also been sitting for over two hours in the car so that may have also been a factor. I think that many of the visitors were also reluctant to venture from the table with its array of cakes, scones, sandwiches, etc. Many thanks to all who contributed to this morning tea – we raised $410.00 and the visitors went away well refreshed and with great memories of the morning.

Maxine Gardner and Marg Chatham serve tea and coffee to the Shepparton Car Club Members.

A delicious spread.

Local Birdlife

John came in after working in the top paddock and said he recalled when he saw the first deer up there and now he can say when he saw the first emu on our place! We thought emu country was a fair way from here but I am told by some bushwalkers they have seen them in the bush between Tatong and Tolmie and that there are signs now in Tolmie warning people to be aware of emus when driving through that area. Sorry we don't have a photo despite now seeing them a couple of times – perhaps next issue.

We did take a photo of the nest of a white-winged Chough. We seem to have a resident flock of these birds and they look lovely when they take off and show their white “underwings”.

These nests may take several months to build if there is a lack of mud. Interestingly, if there is a lack of mud they may use cattle or emu dung!

The photo of the bird, whilst not showing much of the white underwing, is very typical of the birds on our farm. This photo is courtesy “Google”.

Our flock is about 15 in number. Apparently the flocks are composed of breeding adults and non-breeding helpers –some of which are young from previous broods and some birds which may have been kidnapped from other groups of choughs. They are quite noisy when disturbed and mostly seem to feed on the ground – eating seeds and insects.

When is a cup of coffee a Mugaccino?

Now I think everyone knows that Laurie loves his cup of cappuccino and usually the bigger the better so he always asks for a mugaccino. Over the years we've had a few problems with this description, most often being served a macchiato which is a small, strong espresso coffee with a small amount of frothed milk. In Stockholm this problem reached a new level when the wait staff delivered a small macchiato in a big mug. And to add insult to injury informed us that the mug would cost more! I think our description may have lost something in translation.

Why is it important to pump my septic tank out regularly?

Over time scum and sludge layers build up in your septic tank, eventually limiting the amount of available liquid. This does not allow the septic tank to perform one of its basic functions - to allow for settling of solids below the outlet level.

The waste will then flow directly on to the next part of the system untreated. If this situation persists, the scum and sludge will flow through to the distribution field, eventually causing blockages and malfunction - a messy, smelly and costly exercise to repair.

It is recommended that septic tanks are pumped out every 3 - 5 years

Garden Daze

The best time to plant a tree is 20 years ago - the next best time is now

A Find and a Disappointment

Having seen a gardener on TV extolling the virtues of the shrub Duranta Geisha Girl with its lovely clusters of flowers. Hardy and drought tolerant - ever on the look out for something different for the Plant Stall at the Molyullah Fair - it seemed a good one to get.

Finding a lovely large one in full bloom (they really know how to sell) at a nursery and then deciding that it was a bit too expensive to buy, I chose to wait until I had found a smaller one and pay less.

So - when visiting a garden in Benalla recently - how pleased was I to find a shrub complete with pretty blue flowers out in the garden, and even more pleased to be able to bring home some cuttings.

Upon arriving back home and wishing to ensure that the name tag would be correct, I looked up the plant profile and found:

Oh No! It is an environmental weed!

Duranta erecta or repens is a plant native to Mexico, South America and the Caribbean and is in the same plant family, as lantana. There are a wide variety of cultivars available, including Alba, Aurea, Aussie Gold, Gold Mound, Geisha Girl, Sapphire Showers and Variegata

While it is popular nursery plant, it has many common properties of an environmental weed, and is highly poisonous to pets and children.

Duranta erecta is a sprawling shrub or a small tree and will grow at a rate of up to half a metre per year to six metres tall and can spread to an equal width. Mature specimens possess axillary thorns depending on the cultivar, but these can be absent on younger specimens.

The small orange berries are attractive to some species of birds, or bats, and the seeds can be spread by water. The seeds can germinate and can out-compete and shade out native plant species.

Duranta erecta's toxicity has been known since the late nineteenth century when ingestion of its fruit killed a two-year-old boy in Queensland.

Well that's it for Duranta - the cuttings having been added to the bonfire.

The leaves and berries of the plant are toxic, and are known to have killed children, dogs, cats and some birds.

Perhaps a more "Friendly" choice for the dry conditions is the Butterfly Bush or Buddleia

Easy to grow with attractive foliage and abundant colourful and fragrant flowers they are an asset to any garden.

Belonging to the foxglove family and renowned for their long nectar-rich flower spikes - these plants are hardy, quick growing, salt tolerant and will grow in most soil types and will bloom throughout the summer.

Known as the Butterfly Bush for their ability to attract butterflies, as well as bees and birds, Buddleia provide food for these garden allies who by acting as pollinators and controlling pests, are one of the best allies a gardener can have. Buddleia bloom in many colours - though the butterflies are reputed to prefer the lavender pink to the white or dark mauve.

Plant in a sunny or partly shaded position in the garden, mulch and water regularly until the plant is established - usually around 12 weeks.

Prune after flowering to maintain compact growth and heavier flowering. As they are a woody perennial - cut back by two thirds - just above a node, in the Autumn as they will flower on the new wood in the next season.

As we seem to be on a Blue Flower Theme . .

The Native Mint Bush Prostanthera ovalifolia, are one of the more delicate flowering shrubs in the Australian Flora with soft purple and pink flowers, and a lovely minty fragrance in the foliage.

Their natural environment is dry shade, which makes them very useful for these usually difficult areas to fill in the garden.

A Mint Bush came up in our first tree plantation. We presume it had come up in the potting mix we had made back home in Montrose, where we had Mint Bushes growing in the garden. This shrub lasted with no extra watering for over 20 years, growing among Eucalypts and Acacias and flowering beautifully every spring.

Happy Gardening

Samaria Suns Giant Win

On Sunday 6th May the Samaria Suns hosted the G.V Giants in what has become a tightly fought rivalry over the last few years. The Suns started the game with a strong line up thanks to many new faces having their first game of the season. From the ruck contest to all around the ground the Samaria Suns were able to control the majority of the game. Richardson and Kego in the ruck combined well with Berry and Pickering to ensure the suns had first use of the ball while Symes' forward line ensured the scoreboard continued to tick over. Cassidy and company in the backline showed a stealy strength which allowed Orton and the midfield to continue to run throughout the day. The Suns ended up running away with a fantastic win. It was fantastic to see so many new faces around the team as everybody contributed to an awesome atmosphere. If anybody is interested in a game or just keen to come and have a run at training contact the Samaria Suns.

Samaria Suns V Maryborough

On Sunday 20th May the Samaria Suns hosted Maryborough at the Tatong Recreation Reserve. The Suns started the game with a strong line up thanks to the returning faces of David Whitechurch and Ant Fobister as well as new players, Justin Triffitt and Harley Dalglish having their first game of the season. In true masters style the Suns were happy to lend a hand to the undermanned Maryborough team. The Suns showed their dominance early taking a thirty point lead going into the first break. There was some great work by the back line restricting Maryborough's scoring opportunities.

The second quarter would see Mick Levy lay a tackle which would see a Sun's goal off the boot of the newly returned Ant Fobister. Coach Kyle Pugh was happy to see to see the game being played in true Masters style.

If anybody is interested in a game or just keen to come and have a run at training contact the Samaria Suns.

Samaria Suns 16 . 7 . 103

Maryborough 5 . 5 . 35

Hi Folks,

Did you notice the Donation Envelope in the last issue? Due to a bit of total lack of organisation within the Tattler Team we didn't put in a 'pleading for money' article or even leave a proper space to glue the envelope to. So please feel free to retrieve that envelope and make a donation to the Tattler. The yearly subs has been slashed to $10!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

As shown on this envelope you can Mail it / Direct Debit it or stick it in the Tattler mailbox next to the Tavern (on the RHS). So, thank you for that and if you are a local with a local business we have over 500 readers so perhaps you should put an ad in 'the local' to boost business?

Darcy.

Gawn to Town

She never did give me an answer, about putting a foot down, on a particular bit of land.

Most of us have a bit of land to call our own, for a while at least. In my childhood, our suburban back-yard was my domain, host to many imaginary worlds, lots of games, and at one point a horse called Winnie. My mother was not impressed. In my youth I went a-farming, and trod through a great many paddocks with my dog Bernadette. In my middle-age I trod rather less (but probably holding the same amount of grass) with my dog Jubi. Now I'm down to one paddock, but in a world where many modern houses don't even have a back-yard, maybe I'm in front, even retrospectively.

Before we left the farm with less paddocks but more grass, I asked a question of my dog Jubi. She was a bit senile, but that didn't matter, as she was very deaf. I asked a question of her supernatural powers. (I know dogs have magical powers, I've seen "Inspector Rex".) We were walking down through a paddock, which in our tenure, we named "Cormorant". I came up with all sorts of names when we first moved there. One paddock I wanted to call "Crumpet". But my partner preferred bird names. And so I wondered what other names (polite ones, that is) had been applied to the paddocks by previous owners. And who else had walked down here, and who would walk in coming years, and decades, and centuries. If anyone who farmed in Hawthorn in the late eighteen hundreds had wondered that, they would have been puzzled by the answer.

Winter Evening at
by Fred McCubbin

So I asked of my dog, "who was the very first human, to set foot on this area of land, as delineated by this particular fence?" She did flick her ears, but that was because a fly had sat on one. If she knew the answer to the question, she wasn't going to tell me. So I was left to ponder; was it a man or a woman? An adult or a child? Who left the very first human footprint on this bit of land? But then given this would have happened perhaps 70,000 years ago, would this have been the same bit of land? Glaciers have come and gone, rivers risen and dropped, dust storms carried dust; the dirt that is on that paddock surface now, might have come from far away, and whatever sat here then, could be long gone. A geologist could give me a pretty good explanation and I would be interested to know. But the question that remains, until I get a Tardis and find out for myself; who first trod there, and what did they see about them? I struggle to imagine it, but what might they think, to see what this world has become!

WEATHER IN THE TATONG TOWNSHIP

We had a respectable 31.6mm of rain up until the 15th of May, respectable compared to April which had only 12mm of rain right on the 15th of that month. For the whole month of April only 13.7mm of rain fell. Many plants and trees will show some effect 'down the track' from this very dry start to the year.

As usual there is a 'good side' to everything and less rain has meant less grass lawn to cut.

The unknown payee

Someone, I presume an advertiser, has put $80, by Direct Debit, into the Tattler account but left no clue as to who they are or what ad they are paying for!!

The money was deposited on Wednesday the 2nd March at 1954 (7.54PM)

So if you match the detail and have paid for a yearly quarter page ad please let Darcy know as otherwise your ad will not be published:

darcyhogan@bigpond.com

H - 5767 2187

Just for your information, every year the invoices for the ads are issued by mail or email, normally in February. Then after a couple of months, reminders are sent out after which any ads not paid for are deleted. We on the Tattler committee like our advertisers, who all help support the Tattler so, like me, please use the services which they provide before searching the net for some unknown provider of goods or services.

So can the unknown payee contact Darcy to ensure that there ad continues in our paper:

Thanks

Darcy.

The Secretary

If your layout is important, submitting your work in MS Publisher is ideal. (The Editor may need to adjust your layout.) If laid out in a Word document, the text & photos will need to be copied into Publisher; however the Editor will have an idea of your preferred layout.

The content of a PDF file can be difficult to extract.
